Established in 2001, the Frieda Rapoport Caplan Family Business Scholarship Program is made possible through a generous grant from Frieda's, Inc., to the United Fresh Research & Education Foundation. The Program was founded with a goal to increase family business involvement in produce industry advocacy by expanding opportunities for representatives from family businesses to attend United Fresh's Washington Public Policy Conference, the produce industry's premier political advocacy event. Applicants for the scholarship must be employed by a family business that is a United Fresh member company in good standing.
