

New Membership Opportunity for K-12 School Foodservice

United Fresh Produce Association has created a new K-12 school foodservice membership category. Through membership, school foodservice directors and their staff can receive a wide range of member benefits, including resources to help you source, serve and promote fresh fruits and vegetables in our nation's schools as well as opportunities to collaborate with produce industry partners.

School foodservice members can enjoy the following benefits, and much more!

- United Fresh membership directory, as well as assistance identifying industry contacts by region, commodity, and industry segment
- FreshFacts® on Retail and Fresh Insights for Foodservice – fresh produce trends research to help you plan and inspire your menus
- United Fresh publications, webinars, white papers and other resources on food safety, operations, supply chain logistics, nutrition policy and more
- Complimentary registration to the annual United Fresh Convention, as well as the opportunity to participate in our School Foodservice Forum

United Fresh membership is available to school districts/school foodservice authorities at the special rate of $250/year. Through membership, the School Foodservice Director can designate additional contacts to access the United Fresh website.

To support this inaugural membership, our foundation, the United Fresh Start Foundation, has established a scholarship fund to provide support for school districts in need.

If you are interested in joining as K-12 school foodservice member, please complete a United Fresh Membership Application and email it to Andrew Marshall, Director of Foodservice & Foundation Partnerships.
