Senator Roger Marshall

Party: Republican
State: Kansas

Relevant Committees:

Member Bio: Prior to being elected to Congress in 2016, representing Kansas' 1st Congressional District, Marshall started a medical practice as an obstetrician. Now, Marshall brings a staunch conservative record to the Senate. He listed confirming conservative judges and justices as a top priority. He also supports Trump’s efforts to build a southern border wall, opposes the Affordable Care Act, supports gun rights, and backs passage of the USMCA. He replaces retiring Sen. Pat Roberts (RKS). As an in-house expert on science and health matters on the House Science, Space and Technology Committee, Marshall focused on environmental threats to farmers and how to improve agriculture methods in the future. His life began on a Kansas farm, and he preserves his deep agricultural appreciation and understanding through participating in a cattle feeding operation.

Election Vote: 53.5%

State Info: KS produces $27 million in fresh produce and tree nuts annually on nearly 1100 farms. Other major agricultural commodities include cattle, grains and hogs.
